THE FASTEST PREGAME ON TV: KICK OFF SUNDAY WITH TRAYVON BROMELL, FRED KERLEY, BLESSING OKAGBARE AND MORE IN AMERICAN TRACK LEAGUE

ATLANTA: Fans can kick off a sports-filled Sunday with racing stars in the next round of the American Track League, airing on ESPN at 3:30pm ET. Speedster Fred Kerley is back in the 400m, where he has his sights on a world record time. Week one's 60m winner Trayvon Bromell returns, as he builds towards being a favorite in the sprints for Tokyo. For the women, Nigeria's Blessing Okagbare returns for both a 60m and 200m race after she won her first indoor event in almost 10 years during ATL week one.

This week will see the addition of the Tracksmith men's mile featuring New Zealand's legendary Olympic medalist Nick Willis, now entering his 19th consecutive year of running sub-4 min miles. There will also be a men's long jump for the first time in the 2021 indoor series.

In the On Running Women's 400m, four-time All-American Chloe Abbott will take on World Indoor silver medalist Shakima Wimbley

The Cunningham siblings will both be competing in high jump, as Randall Jr joins along with his sister Vashti, who won the high jump in week one. Jr. faces tough competition as he'll be up against Olympic silver medalist Erik Kynard and previous world champion Donald Thomas of the Bahamas.

The meet will be live on ESPN from 3:30pm-5:30pm CT – which means you can catch all the track action first before any other of your Sunday activities.

American Track League's made-for-TV, four-meet, indoor elite track and field series is broadcast live on ESPN/ESPN2. The series, which features the top men's and women's track and field athletes in the world, are also part of the World Athletics 2021 Silver Label Tour.

The 2021 season, which was originally to take place in various cities around the USA, will take place at one location in order to create a strict and comprehensive COVID protocol for all athletes, coaches and officials. The four meets will be held on the campus of the University of Arkansas at the Randal Tyson Track and Field Center. The 2021 edition of the American Track League will not have fans in attendance. However, these made-for-TV meets will be two hours in length and include some modified events to create more fan engagement and excitement.

As part of the World Athletics Continental Silver Tour, the athletes have the opportunity to earn bonus points, based on their performances, that can enhance their ability to advance to the Olympic Games in Tokyo. With international travel limited and the number of events leading into Olympic Trials in June still unconfirmed, the opportunity is critical for athletes to gain A standard scores to secure minimum eligibility for the games.
